—The "Occasional," the new Democratic paper in Virginia City publishes a column editorial to show that politics is a filthy pool. This being the editors idea it seems rather strange that he goes to such useless expense getting in.

—A resident of Reno says the adjournment of Congress was set for the 26th in order to allow members of both branches of the National Legislature time to get to Carson to participate in the celebration of the American independence in that village on July 3.

—Yesterday the APPEAL mentioned the jack rabbit epidemic. They are having it elsewhere. The Alta says:

The jack rabbits are dying off all through Inyo county by the hundreds. Their bodies are found lying alongside the roads and trails and all through the sagebrush and over such an extent of country as to preclude the idea that they had succumbed to poison administered to them.

Exactly.

If Senator Fair would be as active in his Senatorial duties at Washington as he is in getting the News Agency to keep him before the people, his Senatorial record would be very different from what it is. The Senator's trick of having his opinions every now and then telegraphed across the continent is becoming stale.—Enterprise.

The old chestnut scheme of working the telegraph wires for advertising purposes ought to be left to actresses who lack the talent to win without the wires. It is beneath the dignity of a man aspiring for the Senatorial office. Nobody believes Fair; nobody has believed him for the last twenty-five years. It is said that he is affected with a hallucination that the instant he tells the truth he will be struck with lightning. He is trying to avoid the electric bolt.

Why Bobby was Put to Bed.

"What do you want to sit up longer for, Bobby?" asked his father, impatiently; "it's after 7 o'clock."

"I want to think," said Bobby.

"Well, you can stay up just 20 minutes longer on condition that you stop asking foolish questions."

Bobby readily complied with this condition and fell to thinking.

Then he fell off his chair.

"Pa," he said briskly as he gained an upright position, "if Jesus is God's son how is it they have got different names?"

Five minutes later Bobby was between the sheets.—Ex.

COL SUTHERLAND ARRESTED.

BROUGHT FROM RENO BY UNDER SHERIFF ULLRICK.

His Creditors After Him With Blood in Their Eyes.

Yesterday morning when the train arrived the portly figure of Col. W. T. Sutherland was noticed along with a little lady in black and Under Sheriff Ullrick. Sutherland had been arrested by Constable Pine in Reno on the charge of attempting to leave the State with the intention of defrauding his creditors. The arrest was caused by Col. Ellis of this city to whom he owes some $30,000 for legal services, etc. Col. Sutherland has had a peculiar and checkered career while in this State. Some years ago he came to Candelaria and there started the White Mountain Water Works by which pure water was brought into Candelaria a distance of 21 miles. R. E. Doran, the owner of the springs from which the water came, was a partner in the enterprise and the originator of the scheme. Doran is also a party to the arrest.

In order to build the works bonds to the extent of $300,000 were issued and floated in New York. After a while the bondholders called for their money and Col. Ellis was secured to defend the suit. He did so and was paid part in money and part in stock of the water works and a mine and mill in which Sutherland was interested. It was shown that the bonds had not been lawfully issued and the bondholders lost, although most of them accepted a compromise and were paid.

Sutherland then went back to England and there succeeded in getting a number of English capitalists with more money than experience to place money in his hands to invest.

After the water works scheme and the subsequent complications, he was unable to appear on the streets of Candelaria, fearing the clubs and shot guns of the miners etc., but on his return about a year ago with the assurance of half a million of English capital, he was tendered a big banquet and serenaded. The town was prostrate before him.

He told some big stories of his backing. He claimed that he had $150,000 for the mill and mine; $100,000 to purchase ore, $100,000 for a railroad to bring fuel to the boiler and $150,000 for incidentals. Curiously enough the guileless people of that section seem to gulp down everything he said. He lived in the most costly style and travelled back and forth to London and New York several times. He is now claimed as the heaviest single-handed liar and blower in the country.

His bail is fixed at $200,000, but last evening there was talk of modification. Ellis and Doran claim $185,000 due.

The "Occasional."

The "Occasional" is the name of a new paper published in Storey county. It is Democratic but of a conservative stripe. It seems to have measured Adams from the start and says:

Nevada wants officials who dare to do right whether the right promises to be popular or not. She wants no time-serving official who governs his conduct by the narrow and selfish rule as to whether the performance of a certain act will bring water to his wheel, or whether it will conciliate this or that man.

The Occasional will therefore oppose for nomination for office all aspirants of the Adams class of politicians, and will labor to the best of its ability to elect to the principal offices of this State men of broad and liberal views, men of character, of intelligence and of sufficient education to enable them to write their own messages and State papers.

—Dyspepsia comes from Torpid Liver and Costiveness. You cannot digest your food well unless your liver and bowels act properly. Brandreth's Pills, taken one or two at night for a week or so, will regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver and ensure a quick and healthful digestion. These Pills are purely vegetable, contain no mineral and are absolutely harmless for old and young.

—Senator Stewart returned yesterday from San Francisco.

WHITE VEGETABLES.

A Practical Solution of the Question.

Since the League started, the Chinese vegetable sellers have received less trade than before, but they are still here. As long as they can sell enough vegetables to feed the old horses that pull them around they will hang on, hoping for better times. They raise their vegetables in this city while the white dealers send abroad. This is the case in a nut shell. We cannot drive the Chinese vegetable men from the city of Carson so long as they raise their own garden truck and we are obliged to send to California for it and pay the freight.

To fight the Chinese we must be equally well equipped. There is no reason why with the same soil and the same climate the whites cannot raise just as good vegetables as the Chinese.

The APPEAL suggests that the League purchase a vacant lot in this city or a few acres of land on the outskirts, place it in charge of experienced gardener and raise vegetables from which the white dealers now in the city can procure supplies. Each member of the League could subscribe say one dollar a month and the amount paid monthly would soon establish the necessary vegetable gardens. Again, this plan would keep in the city the money now going to the railroads and California. We must raise vegetables at home if we expect to drive the Chinese away from this industry. Each man of the League must put his hand in his pocket and his shoulder to the wheel.

Determined to Die.

VIENNA, June 15.—Although the news of King Louis' suicide was not wholly unexpected in Vienna, it made an intense sensation and nothing else is talked of. It is known here that the King had been sad and for some days had meditated self murder. Before leaving Hohenschwanau he attempted to ascend the lofty tower of the castle, undoubtedly meaning to throw himself off, but Guden then intercepted him, remarking: "Your Majesty is at perfect liberty to go to the top of the tower, but it is not advisable to do so." The same night the King implored his attendants to give him poison.

UGLY HINTS.

LONDON, June 15.—The Standard's Vienna correspondent telegraphs: It is impossible to conceal the misgivings generally felt in that city that King Ludwig was insufficiently guarded Sunday evening. "A long time," the correspondent says, "elapsed before searchers were sent out to find what detained the King. It is also felt here that had greater vigilance been exercised the body of the King might have been reanimated. The correspondent maintains that when King Ludwig's financial extravagance first began to make trouble in Bavaria no hint was given that he was afflicted with insanity, and adds, "The real truth, I fear, will never be known."
